
Western partner spotlight

Breanna Brown - Equine educator Utah USA

If you've spent any time on our socials this year, you've likely seen Breanna Brown and her striking gelding Legend riding confidently across the Utah landscape. Breanna, known online as The Equine Educator, has been part of the Scootboot family for almost a year - and in that time, she's become a true voice for barefoot riders who believe that comfort, connection, and performance all begin with healthy hooves.

Breanna is a lifelong horsewoman, trainer, and educator who brings a calm, relatable approach to everything she shares. Her passion for improving hoof health and her ability to explain the "why" behind the barefoot approach has inspired a loyal following of riders across North America.

Through her educational videos and heartfelt storytelling, Breanna helps demystify what it really means to keep horses naturally balanced and moving freely. Whether she's showing how Scotboots perform on rugged trails or discussing how small adjustments can improve comfort and confidence, Breanna's message is consistent - horses thrive when we listen to their hooves.

You can follow Breanna's journey here: 📷 Instagram: @theequineeducator 📺 YouTube: The Equine Educator
